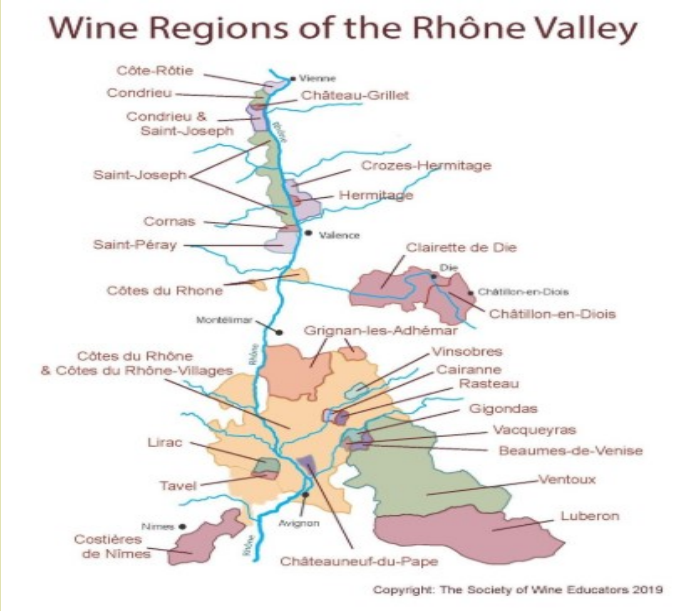
ARBOR FARMS MARKET

The Rhône Valley



2024 Famille Coulon Le Petite Renard Blanc - The eighth-generation of this family-owned winery in Châteauneuf-du-Pape sources biodynamically-farmed fruit from within 40 kilometers of their estate for this wine. A blend of Rhône grape varieties, it is rich on the palate, with notes of peaches, apples and a hint of anise. Enjoy with roast chicken or creamy pasta.$22.99

2022 Jean-Claude Marsanne Viognier "Les Ruisseaux" - The Marsanne family has a long history in the Northern Rhône and the current generation still makes the wines as their grandfather did. "Les Ruisseaux" means streams in French and the stream next to this vineyard transports granite deposits from St. Joseph to the vines. Apricots, orange curd and a hefty dose of minerals with great balance. For pan-fried whitefish or baked brie. $34.99

2022 Domaine Jolivet Saint-Joseph "L'Instinct" - Bastien Jolivet inherited the family winery in 2014 and instead of selling grapes to the local cooperative he decided to create his own bottlings. This Syrah is organically-grown in granite soils. Plums, pomegranate, and black currants with touch of grilled bay leaves. Pair with roasted sausages or steak fajitas. $33.99

2022 Famille Gras Côtes du Rhône "Les Vieilles Vignes" - The Gras family, which owns Domaine Santa Duc in Gigondas, has been making wine in the area since 1874. This bottling is made from typical Rhône grape varieties purchased from their friends who no longer produce their own wine but still grow excellent grapes. Complex notes of black raspberries and plums with a hint of black peppercorns and tobacco leaf. Try it with hearty cassoulet. $24.99

Bottles ordered: _____

2022 Château du Trignon Rasteau - The members of the Quiot family have been winegrowers in the Rhône and Provence since 1748 and own multiple estates in the regions. 65% Grenache, 35% Mourvèdre. Dark and rich, this wine will reveal more of itself with decanting. A nose of violets and lavender precedes a palate of black fruits and earth. Pair with roast lamb, prime rib or a meaty stew. $29.99
